A is for apple peeler - we know that this one would have gotten a workout because the women of Haliburton were renowned for their pies! Submitted by Kate Butler of Haliburton Highlands Musuem

B is for butter - butter stamps and a butter paddle to be precise! We know that in the 1920s May Wilson used to regularly walk from Harburn to Haliburton (over 25km round trip) even in the winter on snowshoes to sell her butter in the village!

C is for canoe - one that belonged to Sir Sam Hughes who was the Minister of Militia and Defence during the First World War. It came from his beautiful summer home in Eagle Lake which now operates as Sir Sam's Inn.

To help you visit the museum from home, the Haliburton Highlands Museum has shared its museum alphabet - one item for every letter.

March the 25th, 2020

ANDREA PERCY
Special to County Life

WAS IT ONLY a month ago? I was in Sobey's with my son amid crowds of other people, cruising the produce aisle. Days after that, I had my hair cut and three dental visits (my bridge had fallen out). On March the second, some of us sat around in our usual intimate circle, touching knees. On March the 10th, our choir met as usual, sharing musical scores, and afterwards we chatted together while crowded in the front hallway, waiting for our turn out the door and into the evening light. On March the 14th, our writers group gathered in the small room in the basement of a small library, and carefully spaced our chairs three feet apart. Then for choir yesterday, we decided to stay home, singing each of us on our own, singing outside to the trees or the river, at an agreed upon time, sharing the same round of music but not the same space, afterwards bringing our stories and pictures and thoughts online so the others "could know our minds." Sunday, March the 28th, the writers met again but this time online, using a program we learned less than a week ago for the purpose.

It has been a tight progression of mediations!

Recently, the prime minister has taken to delivering daily government views and edicts on CBC. We have been tuning in because this is serious. Yesterday, March 24, he informed us that all "non-essential" businesses would be closed by midnight, to allay the further spread of the plague that is upon us. He stressed that "essential" businesses included pharmacies, grocery stores, liquor and hardware stores.

I immediately registered that to mean that one of my favourite stores might be closed by tomorrow. I looked online at the website of a bigger, comparable business in Peterborough in order to look up the days of the week it was planning to be open. And there was the list of all seven days: "closed." I called the Lindsay branch of the same store, and was told they would know their own fate by the end of the day.

That's when I checked in once more with what was going on in my body ... with the slight heaviness I'd been feeling in my chest and the soft scratchiness in my throat. Although I preferred to think it was just a cold, I deduced there was a possibility I might be in self-quarantine soon.

I got online and connected to the website of the store. I placed a huge order then and there and called another friend, who said, Yes, I could pick up something for her as well.

"Picking up" is now an obsolete term – as of last week I believe. When I got to the store, I called the proprietor from the curb and paid the VISA charge from my car. She lugged the box of supplies out to me and plunked it onto my back seat. She withdrew quickly, we said our good-byes, she shut the door, and I was off!

There is no keeping up. We are at warp speed now. Articles about how long the virus remains on surfaces have been surfacing, as well as reports about certain people who have the virus who haven't been in contact with travellers from foreign countries. Does that mean the virus is on our food packages, on the skins of our oranges? Or just that some of us are carrying the virus and don't know it?

Stay tuned. I can't keep up. I'm drowning in facts. The internet is no longer fast enough. The universe, the Goddess, has had enough, and she is showing us how fast SHE can be. In a very short time, we've come to know in our bones that our lives are no longer our own, if they ever were.

We wait in quiet, slowing down, taking it in, meditating, praying and lighting candles, keeping in touch in untouchable ways, communing with our souls.

Top 10 things we will tell younger generations about these times in 30 years

RIGHT NOW, we are in what some people are referring to as the war against coronavirus. Although this is a serious, difficult time, hopefully a bit of humour will help make things easier.

One day, this will be over. And, in time, we will even have stories to tell to the generations that follow. Of course, that's a long way off yet. But here are the top 10 things I hope we can say to young people in 2050.

STEVE GALEA
Humour Columnist

1. My chapped hands? Oh it's an old wound from the COVID-19 war.
2. Grandma doesn't like to talk about the Battle of Binge Watch.
3. It was one of those wars where bone spurs didn't give you a free pass.
4. You think you're tough huh? Try spending two weeks self-isolating with nothing more than Netflix and a comfortable couch.
5. And that's why I'll never wear track pants again.
6. And that's why the right to own toilet paper is now written into our constitution.
7. And that's when we found out we could live without mowing the lawn.
8. It turns out he wasn't a very stable genius after all.
9. That's why people of my generation flinch when people cough.
10. It almost killed the clown car industry.

Hali wintersong

Nothing like a Hali winter
Equalizes men and boys
Women too, like younger versions
Playfully make joyful noise
Dogsleds, angels, snow machines
Fish huts, syrup, drinks by fires
Skating, snowshoes, frozen mittens
Apple cheeks down slalom spires

Shinny games with happy bruises
Toques and sticks and helmets hard
Turn a winter weekend raucous
On a pond or Luke's backyard
Cocoa brewing on a burner
Chowder, chili, sourdough
Wood stove gobbles local maple
Birch stack waits its turn to glow

Though in myth some folk denounce it
Though by March we ache about
Though our skin has dried to parchment
Winter here gets my shoutout!

Ageless kids in crackling snow pants
Toss an icy ball or two
Till their sweat and yawns head inward
Cozy kitchen, homemade stew
From the bedroom window later
With the waning moon on all
Snow fort ramparts shine white-silver
Tunnels dug, tomorrow's crawl

Maybe pitch a broomstick flagpole
Maybe carve a minaret
Maybe add a cave or igloo
Hali winter, don't go yet!

Though in myth some folk denounce it
Though by March we ache about
Though our skin has dried to parchment
Winter here gets my shoutout

Connecting with community during a time of social distancing

JENN WATT
County Life Editor

Kim McBrien Evans, owner of West Guilford-based yarn studio Indigodragonfly, said her company was gearing up for its busiest show season ever when the coronavirus hit Canada and all of her plans were upended.

"We are in an unprecedented situation and have to adapt quickly to a changing world," McBrien Evans said on March 20. Indigodragonfly was to attend six shows from March to July and the cancellations "have been catastrophic." She said sales are down from what they should be at this time of year, and although there is more traffic online, that doesn't mean more people buying product.

Her company is putting more energy into its online operations, offering discounts to shoppers and enhancing their social media presence, first by hosting a live yarn dyeing demonstration on Instagram.

"Our friend, designer Anne Blayney, offered one of her patterns for free as a comfort to people hit hard by COVID-19. Since the pattern was designed in our yarn, we decided to dye kits for it and I thought it could be fun to do a live dyeing demo, answer questions and generally just have a fun time showing what we do," McBrien Evans said.

The result was an hour-long video with Ron Evans dyeing, McBrien Evans answering questions and Victoria Bingham recording and moderating the chat.

Other area businesses and organizations are also finding ways to use the internet to connect to their community while people are practicing social distancing and self-isolation to limit the spread of COVID-19.

At the Haliburton Highlands Museum, director Kate Butler is planning virtual tours and video content for those looking for a fix of history while the physical space is closed.

Staff had been preparing programming for March Break when the Municipality of Dysart et al's emergency control group made the decision to close the museum along with the arena and West Guilford and Harcourt community centres.

Typically, an outdoor maple syrup demonstration is included in the museum's programming and "wouldn't you know it, we've had the best run of sap this year that we've had in years," Butler said.

Aside from the syrup, the museum also offers family activit ies and Butler has been putting instructions up on social media for those who still want to make crafts at home.

"We're sharing both photos and artifacts from the collection daily to help people enjoy the museum from home," she said. "We're also sharing activities online for families at home looking for things to do. The goal is for them to require only things you're already likely to have around the house." You can see some of those artifacts on page 2 of this week's County Life.

From a historical perspective, Butler said the global COVID-19 pandemic "is different than anything we've seen before in history, because the spread of information around the globe is faster than it's ever been before. Connectivity makes a huge difference because it means that we can practice physical distancing while still staying in touch in a way that would astonish previous generations."

She said she thinks this time will be remembered as one "when people used innovative and creative ways to work together and look after each other, even when apart."

Organizers of the U-Links Celebration of Research, which was to take place at the end of the month, decided they would highlight at least one student project a week on social media, since the event has been cancelled.

The Celebration of Research is a chance for students from Fleming College and Trent University to present the work they did in the community. "There are usually over 20 student poster presentations, as well as verbal presentations by students from a couple of select projects," Amanda Duncombe-Lee, program coordinator with U-Links, said.

Students network at the event with host organizations and potential employers. "For example, we had several projects that focused on waste diversion and reduction and several projects focused on biodiversity; it would have been great to get people from all of these host organizations in the room together," she said.

This was to have been the 30th anniversary of the event and the plan was to recognize the Ontario Trillium Foundation Seed grant awarded to the Trent Centre for Community-Based Education in collaboration with U-Links for the benthic biomonitoring project.

Currently, the presentation QEII Moose Species Summary by Jazlyn Burrell and Sarah Wray is available to view on U-Links' Instagram account.

SIRCH community services

Will You Help Us Help Others?

Like SIRCH, you are concerned about your neighbours in Haliburton County.

You want to help those most affected by lay-offs, social distancing, self-quarantine and loss of financial security, but it's risky to do practical things and you're not sure where to start.

SIRCH has a simple way you can have an immediate impact on those who need help in Haliburton County during the COVID-19 crisis.

Up until now, SIRCH has been making 400 meals per month and distributing them free through food banks, Ontario Works and other organizations in Haliburton County.

Now with the coronavirus, the demand for healthy, prepared meals has drastically increased.

Why?
- Hundreds of people have suddenly been laid off
- One-third of our residents are seniors
- Haliburton already has a 23% child poverty rate
- We have the second highest cost of living in Ontario
- Many will not be eligible for EI or other benefits.

Prepared meals are essential for those with disabilities, anxiety, lack of cooking skills or resources, and for those who are ill, homeless and elderly.

The food banks will do their best, but for many families this may not meet the need in this increasingly urgent situation.

During the pandemic and until our community is back on its feet, our goal is to increase the number of prepared meals from 400 to 1,400 meals each month.

We can do it, but we need your help.

SIRCH has no base funding for this free food program – it relies on donations from individuals, organizations, churches and businesses.

It costs SIRCH about $4 to make one healthy meal. Each comes with heating instructions and a nutritional label. Some meals are suitable for diabetics or others with special diets. Local produce is used whenever possible and groceries are purchased locally.

Please help keep Haliburton County fed.

With your help, SIRCH can meet the Covid-19 challenge: $5,600/month for 6 months is needed.

Donate what you can:
VISA or Master Card – give monthly or one-time. Call in with your card: 705-457-1742
Online (go to our website www.sirch.on.ca)
Via e-transfer (stacy_mclean@sirch.on.ca – send password in a separate email)
By cheque, which can be mailed to SIRCH Community Services, Box 687, Haliburton, ON K0M 1S0

We can get through this.

In the end, we will be a stronger community if we band together and look after each other.

Sometimes our light goes out, but is blown again into instant flame by an encounter with another human being."

Gallery of exhibition artwork posted online

"I think that one of the benefits of having project highlights online is that anyone can see them, the summaries are written using accessible language and anyone who is interested in more information can contact us or read the entire report in our database," Duncombe-Lee said.

To connect the public to its latest exhibition, the Rails End Gallery and Arts Centre is posting images from Water to its Facebook page. The Haliburton gallery closed on March 16 following Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's address to the country, said Laurie Jones, curator. A notice was sent out via email within a day of the closure.

"Prior to March 16 we had already cancelled our in-person gathering ie. drum circles and I had started learning about virtual options for small meetings ie. board of directors," she said.

Water, which is the theme of the annual members' show, features 107 pieces, which will be posted over time on Facebook.

Jones said she thinks the online audience will appreciate the talent of area artists and their interpretation of the theme of water.

The experience may offer a chance to learn more about how to present art in the virtual realm.

"I have done a lot of learning the past few days about ways to create small virtual exhibitions affordably," Jones said. "The 'Water' [Facebook] album is just the start of something we may well be able to do more professionally in the future. That would take time, dedication and creativity, all of which we have!"

Kim McBrien Evans said her advice to businesses or institutions looking to embrace the online world more enthusiastically during the pandemic is to tune in to what customers need and respond to that. "For us, we recognize that at times like these, people turn to activities that bring them comfort. Crafts like knitting and crochet do that," she said.

For example, after a show in Seattle was cancelled, a marketplace with online classes was set up called the Virtual Knitting Extravaganza. "This meant that anyone who lost work and income because of the cancellation had an opportunity to make up some of that income," McBrien Evans said. She is part of an organizing committee putting together something similar for the Knit City Montréal event, which has been postponed.

A series of livestream sessions is also in the works for Indigodragonfly including more demonstrations, "knit and chat" and classes. Check out their Instagram account @indigodragonfly to find out more.

SIRCH offers free frozen meals during COVID-19 global pandemic

At this unprecedented time, SIRCH Community Services is putting its resources and energies into providing healthy meals for anyone who is struggling to provide for themselves and their families.

For many years, SIRCH's Community Kitchen has made frozen meals for distribution to local food banks and community agencies. They are gearing up to more than triple the regular amount made.

You can ask for SIRCH meals at the food banks, and starting on Saturday, March 28, you can get take-out frozen meals directly from SIRCH Central. SIRCH Central will open every Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at 2 Victoria Street in Haliburton (next to the laundromat).

They will be using social distancing protocols to help keep people safe. They prepare and package the meals under the very strict COVID-19 protocols to ensure meals are prepared in compliance with the latest food-handling and sanitation guidelines. No one will be allowed inside the building. The meals will be put into bags and brought out to you.

All of the frozen meals are free. SIRCH wants to support as many people as possible, so please ask for just what you will use over a weekend and leave some for your neighbours.

Each frozen meal comes with heating instructions and a nutritional label. Some meals are suitable for diabetics or others with special diets. Local produce is used whenever possible and groceries are purchased locally.

SIRCH has no base funding for this free food program—it relies on donations from individuals, organizations, churches and businesses. If you are able, your financial support is needed!

Donate what you can:

- Online at www.sirch.on.ca/donate with Visa or MasterCard
- By phoning 705-457-1742 with Visa or MasterCard
- By cheque, mailed to SIRCH Community Services, Box 687, Haliburton, ON K0M 1S0
- Via e-transfer to stacy_mclean@sirch.on.ca – send password in a separate email

Please help keep Haliburton County fed. In the end, we will be a stronger community if we band together and look after each other.

Please visit www.sirch.on.ca or follow on Facebook for up-to-date information about SIRCH's programs and services.

HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO

THE VOICE OF THE HIGHLANDS

5c PER COPY

HALIBURTON, ONTARIO THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11TH, 1965

THIS WEEK'S PRESS RUN—2062

Established in 1882 as the Minden Echo & Haliburton Recorder

Ice Equipment Arrives

The artificial ice machine for the new Haliburton Community Arena arrived on Tuesday, but it will be a while before it is put in operation. The Echo mentioned some weeks ago that it was thought possible that we would see some hockey being played there toward the end of February, but under present conditions this will not be possible.

Everyone would like to see the arena opened for hockey and skating and considerable pressure has been put on the committee to put natural ice in but they have in our opinion, wisely decided against such a course.

This could well prove to be a costly venture and might delay the installation of the artificial ice equipment such as the piping and floor.

Weather Report

Recorded by John Elstone

Maximum temperature 43 degrees February 10; Minimum temperature -19 degrees February 3; Snowfall 7"; Rainfall .35; Snow on ground 14".

Snow is extremely heavy on cottage roofs and recent rains have not helped the situation.

Haliburton Highlands All Set For Snowmobile Rally Feb. 28

Elsewhere in this paper is an advertisement providing full particulars of a giant snowmobile rally which is to take place at Haliburton on Sunday, February 28, 1965. The focal point of this sporting event will be the Rotary Beach. The rally which by the way is the first of its kind to be held here is being sponsored by Branch 129, Royal Canadian Legion. Given any kind of help from the weatherman, this event should attract a great deal of interest.

The first race which will be known as the Ladies' Powder Puff Race will take place at 1 p.m. The winner will receive the Dr. H. E. Good Trophy.

The second race commencing at 1:30 p.m. will be an Obstacle Race for the Royal Canadian Legion Trophy.

A Five Mile Flat Race is the third race which will take place at 2:30 p.m. To the winner will go the Beaconbrook Hotel Trophy.

At 3:30 p.m. the fourth and last race will take place. This is what is known as the Cross Country event. The winner in this case will receive the Tip Top Tailors Trophy.

OPP Halts Bus At Bancroft On Bomb Tip

BANCROFT (Special) — Police stopped and searched a Pembroke-bound bus carrying 30 passengers recently to check a phone tipoff that a time bomb was aboard.

OPP, who received the call after a man had been put off the bus at Peterborough, about 60 miles south of here, allowed the Colonial bus to continue the journey.

An OPP spokesman at Peterborough refused to comment if the incident was being treated as a hoax, but added: "We are continuing investigations".

Blame Heavy Snowfall For Recent Accidents

LINDSAY (ENS) — Friday's day-long storm which dumped about 14 inches of snow on the Lindsay area was partially responsible for a series of accidents.

The storm, which ended about 1 a.m. Saturday, reduced visibility to a few feet during Friday afternoon and created hazardous driving conditions.

Traffic had to be re-routed through Kinmount from Norland after a large tractor-trailer loaded with lumber, broke down on Highway 35 about 2 p.m.

The highway was blocked for several hours.

Minden Provincial Police said that roads were snow covered and extremely slippery.

Haliburton OPP reported conditions as "treacherous".

(Peterborough Examiner)

Glen Hodgson Named On Many Committees

Glen Hodgson, Victoria Riding MPP, has been appointed to the following Ontario Legislature standing committees Agriculture, Education, Health and Welfare, Labor, Legal and Municipal Bills, Natural Resources, Wildlife and Mining.

Firemen And Legion Hold Social Evening

The Haliburton Fire Department played host to the members of the Haliburton Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion at a party held at the Legion Hall on Monday night. We understand that the Firemen defeated the Legion at Euchre.

The evening came to a close with a delicious buffet lunch.

Highlanders Win First Play Off In Bobcaygeon

The Haliburton Highlanders won their best two out of three play-off series with the Bobcaygeon Juveniles when they won a 7-5 decision at the Bobcaygeon Arena on Wednesday night. The Haliburton crew took the series in two straight games.

Neil Hewitt who was the star of the game netted two goals, Larry Sawyer had two, while single markers went to Danny Roberts, Ron Stackhouse and Cummings.

The locals led 3-0 at the end of the first period, and 6-4 at the end of the second.

They now await the second play-off series.

Cleopatra Coming To Beaver & Molou

Movie fans in Haliburton County are in for a real treat. The long awaited movie "Cleopatra" with none other than Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton and Rex Harrison is coming at last.

This great motion picture will be playing at the Molou Theatre in Haliburton and the Beaver Theatre in Minden on the same dates, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 26, 27, and 28. It will be shown once nightly starting at 8 p.m.

This is your opportunity to see this much talked about movie, so plan now to attend.

Red Cross To Hold Dance At Haliburton

Plans to make this Valentine Dance the best ever are forging ahead under the capable chairmanship of Mrs. Buck Baker and Mrs. Curry Bishop. The Legion Hall will be gaily decorated in the Valentine theme, and many attractive prizes have been donated by the local merchants.

The sumptuous buffet, under the convenorship of Mrs. Mervin Robertson, will have many added touches for the gourmet's delight, and we hear that tickets are going fast. Some are still available from either of the chairmen, or any member of the Red Cross board. Try to get to the party on Friday, February 19th, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The Stage Is Set For The Second Annual Highland Mixed Spiel

The Second Annual Highland Mixed Bonspiel is all set for the Haliburton Curling Rink this week-end. The big spiel begins this Thursday, February 11 and carries through Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A total of 32 rinks will compete, 24 outside rinks and eight local rinks.

The bonspiel will be divided into three events with four prizes in each event, making a total of 12 sets of prizes.

The trophies and prizes are sponsored by the following: Haliburton IGA, Deer Lodge, Algar Coach Lines, Wig-A-Mog Inn, Boice Motor Sales Ltd., Walling's Dairy, C. A. Dawson Insurance, Wilberforce Veneer Co., R. J. Bishop Real Estate.

Rinks will be present from Oshawa, Brampton, Toronto, Peterborough, Lakefield, Minden and other centres in Ontario.

The highlight of the spiel will come on Saturday night when all the curlers will gather at Deer Lodge for a delicious buffet dinner.

We here at the Echo join with all the citizens of Haliburton in welcoming you to the Second Highland Mixed Bonspiel. May you enjoy yourselves.

Accommodation for the various outside rinks has been arranged at the local hotels and motels.

Minden Kinsmen News

The Kinsmen Bingos are receiving excellent patronage as the jackpot draws to a close. Last week seven cards needed only one number for $500.00 As this week 61 numbers are to be called, it is a strong possibility that some person will come away $610.00 richer.

A scale model of the Kinsmen's children's playground is now being constructed and is to be displayed in the window of one of our merchants.

Kids, there is still $8.00 in balloon prize money to be picked up, so you better check your Kinsmen balloons for the lucky coupons.

J. B. Trepanier New H.S. Chairman

Mr. J. Bernard Trepanier is the new chairman of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

We believe that this marks the first time that a citizen of Minden has held this office.

The Echo extends congratulations to Mr. Trepanier and feel sure that he will have the co-operation of the Board in the administration of Secondary School affairs.

What Dysart Council Did

Dysart Municipal Council held their regular meeting in the Council Chambers, Haliburton on Monday morning with all members being in attendance.

After the reading and approval of the minutes, council turned their attention to the General Accounts which amounted to $7,128.24 and Welfare Accounts which amounted to $782.16. After considerable discussion the above items were approved and passed. We note that the relief accounts are up from a year ago when they amounted to only $733.38.

Some Interesting Facts

The Lake Ontario Development Association have recently published a booklet entitled LODA FACTS and it contains some interesting facts regarding the growth and facilities offered by members of the association.

Poulation figures which are dated back to 1921 are quite interesting. In Dysart they are as follows: 1921 - 600, 1931 - 800, 1941 - 900, 1951 - 1,000, 1961 - 2,886.

Some 400 men are employed in lumbering and wood working operations.

The figures for the Township of Monmouth are only given from 1951 and are based on assessment population: 1951 - 575, 1961 - 599.

Over 100 persons are employed in the manufacture and veneer and furniture in Monmouth Township.

Census figures in 1961 give the population of Haliburton County as 8,928.
